Disclaimer
The Illinois State Geological Survey (ISGS) prepares County Coal Elevation Maps for mining use to provide information to mining companies about the elevation of coal beds within the county. The ISGS does not guarantee the accuracy of the data on these maps and does not assume liability for any errors or omissions. The maps are intended for use in the mining industry and are not intended for other purposes. The maps should not be used for any other purpose except as noted above. The data used to produce these maps is compiled from various sources, including the Illinois State Geological Survey (ISGS), the Illinois Geological Survey, the Illinois State Water Survey, and other sources. The data may include classified, proprietary, or other restricted information, and access to this data may be limited by law. The ISGS makes no warranties, express or implied, regarding the accuracy, completeness, or suitability of the data for any particular purpose. Use of the data is at the user's own risk.
