Map Explanation

The maps and data produced by the Illinois State Geological Survey are based on a variety of data sources, including the Illinois State Geological Survey's own surveys, reports, and maps. The maps are intended to provide a general overview of the geological features and resources of the area. The data may include information on minerals, rocks, soils, and landforms. However, the maps are not intended for precise location or property boundaries. Users are advised to consult more detailed and accurate sources for specific information. The maps are not suitable for legal or engineering purposes.
