The Herrin Coal Depth map is designed to provide a visual representation of the depth of the coal deposits within the county. This map is intended to support further geological investigations and resource development. The data used to create this map is based on various sources, including geological surveys and historical mining records. It's important to note that the depth data is subject to some degree of uncertainty due to limitations in available information and the methods used to interpret the data. For more accurate and detailed information, contacting the relevant geological survey or mapping agency is recommended.
